

“Social Capitalism” is a 2200-word Michael Polanyi opinion piece, published in Time and Tide in 1946. It provocatively reflects some of Polanyi’s mid-century social and political ideas as well as his developing account of the history of economic ideas. This short essay was discussed in a Polanyi Society-sponsored Zoom Discussion on 12 June 2020. The recording for this session is available as the opening component at <http://polanvisociety.org/Zoom9-12June20/SocialCapitalism-KP-MP-panel-12June20.mp4> . In 2021, the two essays listed below discussing “Social Capitalism” were published in Polanyiana 28.

Michael Polanyi, “Social Capitalism,” Time and Tide, 13 (April 13, 1946): 341-342.

Phil Mullins, 2019. “From Countering Utilitarianism to Countering Planning: Michael Polanyi's ‘Social Capitalism’ and Its Place in His Social Philosophy.” Polanyiana 28:1-2: 3-19.

Alessio Tartaro, 2019. “Capitalism with a Human Face: A Comment on Michael Polanyi's ‘Social Capitalism.’” Polanyiana 28:1-2: 20-27.

This material is made available for non-commercial use by scholars and students.